REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The interest in the library continues good, judging from the number of books taken out each week.

It has been increased the past year by the purchase of twenty-eight books from the funds appropriated by the town, and the amount collected by the librarian for books kept out over time.

The removal of the building in which the library had been kept necessitated the securing another room in which to place the books, which was found at the house of Nathan J. Goss, and Mrs. Goss was appointed librarian.

A list of the books added the past year is herewith appended.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN H. DOLBEER,
ROSCOE HILL,
WARREN TRIPP,

SCHOOL REPORT.

The Board of Education respectfully submit this paper to the consideration of interested citizens of the school district of Epsom.

By an amendment of the school laws made by the last legislature the school year was made to begin with the fall term. Therefore our report to the state superintendent was sent to his office at the end of the spring term as required, but have thought best to include in our report to the town the work of all three terms.

No doubt all of our people are familiar with other legislative amendments to our school laws, among which is that relating to the study of physiology and hygiene, having special reference to the effects of alcoholic stimulants upon the human system. We would emphasize this law for the sake of humanity alone, without considering the penalty to school boards.

There is also another recent enactment requiring that certain sessions of our public schools shall be devoted to exercises of a patriotic nature. We think that our schools anticipated this requirement, as all but two own a flag and staff, and one of these is planning for a flag at the next term. We are sure that our citizens will appreciate the daily requirement of the "salutation of the flag," for every exercise that tends to make a respectful, methodical, conscientious child is a part of educational development. Our G. A. R. friends will be pleased to learn that the efforts made by their superintendent for this feature in school work have been so readily taken up by the teachers.

A prominent educator suggested to a body of teachers that they require pupils to memorize President Lincoln's dedicatory address at Gettysburg. One of our scholars, Miss Myrtie Paige, has done this, and we hope others have. The children of any town cannot show too much honor and reverence for flag and country, which signify patriotism and loyalty.

The progress of our schools in general has been good, and some of them excellent, being the result of such a growth as comes from a faithful discharge of daily duties by both teacher and scholar. Our teachers seem to express by their devotion to their work a painstaking and conscientious responsibility, and apparently realize that there is more in teaching school than at the close of the term to go to the treasurer and draw their salaries. They desire to give something for that which they receive. We have considered ourselves fortunate in being able to retain so many of our teachers for more than one term, two schools having had the same teacher for the three terms, and four of the others for two terms each.

During the year we placed in five of our larger schools Beer's "Good Citizenship Charts," firmly believing that the more a scholar learns about the government under which he lives, the officers who administer our laws, the manner of their election, and various other matters contained in those charts, the better qualified will he be to take his proper place among his fellow-citizens. We have also added Harper's Sixth Reader to the reading series for advanced classes, and have a sufficient number of Sheldon's Fourth and Fifth readers for supplementary use. In the place of Harper's geographies that have for so long a time been in use in our schools, we have introduced Barnes' series, which are giving very good satisfaction. We are pleased to notice that the study of geography and also that of American history are being taken up in a more interesting manner than formerly, and more are becoming interested in them.

The greater part of our older pupils show a commendable interest in all features of school work, and take good rank in their classes, thereby exhibiting a due appreciation of their school privileges, while many of the younger ones are following in the footsteps of the older and help make the school exercises interesting by their efforts. And every parent may and should help in all this work, for the combined influence of parent, teacher, and pupil are necessary for a successful school. More on this point will not be necessary, as "a word to the wise is sufficient."

The school buildings at Short Falls and New Orchard have been painted the past year, and one side of the New Rye school-house shingled, while minor repairs have been made in other places. The North Road school-house should be painted the coming season and the one at the Centre shingled.

Your careful consideration of the report of the school treasurer, and also the statistical report herewith appended, is invited that you may know in what manner your school money has been expended, the number of pupils attending our schools, the different studies taken, etc.

MARY L. WALLACE,
